Eisenhower Works Indoors On Oil Painting

President Follows Doctors' Orders For Rest, Exercise

KEY WEST, Fla., AP — President Eisenhower today started the first full day of his south Florida vacation by working indoors on an oil painting of a Colorado Rocky Mountain scene.

Partly cloudy and windy weather with occasional showers in the early morning may have influenced the President's decision to remain at his quarters during the morning.

Later in the day, Mr. Eisenhower was expected to get outside if the early morning showers did not recur.

The temperature was in the low 70s and the sun broke through the clouds periodically. Winds were blowing between 20 and 30 miles an hour and small craft warnings were displayed through the keys.

Mr. Eisenhower was following with diligence and vigor the prescription of his doctors for relaxation and exercise.

He set the pattern for his recreational program Wednesday when he hit golf balls on a naval baseball diamond for 30 minutes, then took a 55-minute walk around the Navy reservation where he is expected to stay until about Jan. 8.

Since the President is not an ardent devotee of ocean swimming or deep sea fishing, his press secretary, James C. Hagerty, said it was fair to assume that the exercise recommended by the doctors will follow the pattern of Wednesday—golf, chip shots and walking.

Travel With President
The President arrived here from Washington Wednesday with his brother, Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president of Pennsylvania State University, and a small contingent from the White House Staff.

After a large and enthusiastic civic welcome, the President lunched at his quarters which are not far from the house ex-President Truman occupied on his 11 trips to Key West when he was in office.

By 2:45 p. m., however, the President was out on the ball diamond, hitting nineiron shots of from 50 to 80 yards to his valet, John Mooney. It was the first time since his illness that the President really hit into a ball, although he has practiced putting since in recent weeks since his return from Denver.

Meantime, there continued unanswered the question of why the President said last week that he could not come to Florida and probably could not leave Washington, yet changed his mind abruptly on Tuesday and headed south Wednesday morning.

Hagerty would say merely that the President was here because he was following the advice of his doctors to go to a warmer climate which would encourage more exercise than the chilly East. Asked why Mr. Eisenhower apparently rejected the advice last week when he wired the Key West Chamber of Commerce that he was not coming south, Hagerty shrugged his shoulders and declined to discuss the matter further.

Sentenced to 99 Years in Prison For Slaying Girl

CHICAGO (AP)—Clarence Baugh, 18, was sentenced to spend the next 99 years of his life in prison for the mutilation murder of 8-year-old Mary Manzo.

The Negro youth's face was expressionless as he heard the sentence from Judge Daniel A. Roberts Wednesday. Roberts passed sentence after denying motions for a new trial.

Baugh was accused of dragging the little girl into a vacant building as she went on an errand to a drug store last July 4. He beat her on the head and then dragged her underneath a viaduct where the mutilated body was found three days later, it was charged.

East Indian Girl, Student at Park College, Visits with Roommate Here

Miss Lynette Jagbandhansingh, a petite East Indian from the British West Indies, has been a house guest over the Christmas holidays at the home of Miss Catherine Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Silas Anderson, 311 West South.

Lynette is 21 years of age and a freshman at Park college in Parkville, Mo. She and Catherine are roommates.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Jagbandhansingh of Curepe, Trinidad, off the coast of Venezuela. This is her first trip to the United States, coming here in September to study as an exchange student. She must stay here for four years, returning upon graduation from Park to her native country.

Her plans are to become a physician's assistant. She has a brother who is a senior at Tougaloo college, Tougaloo, Miss., studying to become a dentist, and a brother who is a medical student at Birmingham university in England. Lynette's sister, a graduate of Columbia university, returned to Trinidad in September to teach school. Her father is principal of an elementary school in a town near Curepe.

Speaks Three Languages

There is such a need for teachers in Trinidad that Lynette taught 60 pupils for 18 months in a Hindu school without any experience.

U. S. to Beef Up Far Eastern Air Strength

TOKYO (AP)—U. S. Air Force Secretary Donald A. Quarles said today the U. S. Far East Air Forces will be beefed up to meet the constant buildup of Communist jet air strength in Asia.

But Quarles, who arrived today on his first tour of Air Force facilities in the Far East since his appointment, said the free nations now have enough defense strength to make war "completely unprofitable" for any aggressor.

Quarles refused to share the alarm many military men here feel over the growing Communist air superiority in the Far East. He conceded that Russia, Communist China and Red North Korea have numerically stronger jet air forces than the United States and its Asian allies and have further increased their strength during the past year.

To counter this trend, he told a press conference, the U. S. Far East Air Force will be strengthened "with primary emphasis on getting more modern aircraft to replace those now here."

Quarles gave no timetable for the buildup. It had been announced previously, however, that B57 twin-jet fighter-bombers are replacing the propeller-driven B26s based in Japan.

The Air Force secretary, apparently taking into account the U. S.-based reserves of the Strategic Air Command, insisted that the United States in Asia and elsewhere has "the quality and the stuff to do the job."

"The important thing is to be strong enough in our whole free world position to make it completely unprofitable to any enemy to start a war," he said. "I believe we have that position."

five feet tall, weighs 96 pounds and has long silky hair that is even with her waist line. She stated that some of the East Indian girls have had their hair cut off very short and that the parents and grandparents do not approve since it is thought there that one's hair and eyes are a mark of beauty. Lynette speaks three languages: Spanish, French and English which is the native tongue.

She is shown in the above picture in a sari which is her native costume but which is worn only on special occasions such as a wedding. Her usual clothes are like those of American young girls, dresses, skirts and blouses. The girls in Trinidad also wear blue jeans but only in the home. They wear shorts for sports. They have no need for sweaters or coats because of the warm climate which ranges from 60 to 95 degrees.

Compares Food to U. S.
Christmas trees with ornaments such as ours may also be seen in Trinidad, but only in homes of the Christian faith. Lynette is a Presbyterian and was inspired to go to Park college by an article which she read in a magazine entitled "Presbyterian Life," sent to her by her sister at Columbia university.

In comparing food eaten there with ours in the United States, Lynette stated that there are over 10 varieties of bananas there and that we don't have the best grade. They are only four cents a pound. Grapes, on the other hand, are scarce and are a dollar a pound as are chickens. Mangoes such as we eat here are called sweet peppers in Trinidad and their mangoes are a fruit.

The most important event each year in Trinidad is a carnival which is held in February the Monday and Tuesday before Ash Wednesday which begins the season of Lent for the Roman Catholics. The people there save all year so that they may have elaborate and expensive costumes for this affair.

Her grandparents came from India where they held the title of Singh, the second highest caste in the country.

Death Takes Mrs. Harvey Williams; Funeral Sunday

Mrs. Lola Williams, 54 years of age, died at the Lightner hospital at 7 a. m. today.

Mrs. Williams, wife of Harvey Williams, 1 Water street, Gaskins City, fell at the family home Christmas morning and entered the hospital Tuesday. Examination revealed she had suffered a broken hip.

There also are three brothers, Marion Behrick of Carrier Mills, Henry Behrick of Glendale, Ariz., and Sanford Behrick, Paradise, Calif.; two sisters, Miss Gertrude Behrick of Evansville and Mrs. Lena Gholson, Pensacola, Fla., who was visiting in Harrisburg over the holidays.

A daughter, Dorna Trusgnack, and a sister, Mrs. Ollie Bean, preceded her in death.

Mrs. Williams was born Oct. 24, 1901, in Mt. Vernon, Ind., and was married to Harvey Williams Nov. 15, 1924, and had been a resident of Harrisburg since that year.

She was a member of the Star Baptist church north of Eldorado and was the daughter of the late Henry and Minnie Behrick.

Funeral services will be Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at the Gaskins funeral home. Burial will be in Sunset Lawn cemetery.

Malaya Peace Talks with Reds End in Failure

BALING, Malaya, AP — Two days of peace talks aimed at ending the eight-year-old Communist rebellion in the Malayan jungles ended in failure today.

Chin Peng, leader of 3,000 Red Guerrillas, was reported to have faded back into the dense forests of upper Malaya to "fight it out to the last" with British and Malayan security forces.

The Communists sued for peace when Britain's armed might decimated their guerrilla forces, but in negotiations with Malayan government leaders here the Reds refused to surrender.

The Malayan government, represented by Gengku Abdul Rahman, chief minister of the Malayan Federation, told Chin that what had happened in China, Korea and Viet Nam would never be allowed to happen here.

Demand Blocks Truce
Chin offered today to end the fighting that has cost 10,000 lives, but he tied it up with a demand that Britain turn over to Malaya all the functions of internal security.

Though Chin came here as a defeated military leader, he demanded an impossible set of face-saving conditions and was met with a series of emphatic noes by the government negotiators.

In addition to Rahman, the negotiators included Chief Minister David Marshall of Singapore and Sir Cheng Lock Tan, a leader of Malaya's Chinese colony. They entered the talks Wednesday with a reminder to Chin he was in no position to make any demands.

The meeting began today in an atmosphere of deadlock. It ended with the deadlock apparently unresolvable on the Communists refusal to surrender.

Asia Watches Meeting
The meeting was one watched throughout Asia to see whether the Reds would again be able to wrest concessions from the free world.

Rahman leaves Sunday for London to try to negotiate dominion status for Malaya and for Singapore. The Communist leader apparently was hoping to win time by making his peace offer dependent on this development.

IEA Calls for More Adequate Tax Revenue

Stratton Says State Takes Lead in Meeting Problems

CHICAGO (AP)—The Illinois Education Assn. has recommended federal aid "without federal control" and more state spending for schools.

Delegates at the IEA annual meeting Wednesday voted approval of its legislative committee's report calling for "more adequate" sources of revenue, including a state graduated income tax.

"Adequate" was the key word contained in financial suggestions submitted with the report.

The committee demanded enough state aid to provide "an adequate foundation program." The report went on to say "adequate" aid was necessary for the school lunch and transportation programs, and for state-supported colleges and universities.

Gov. William G. Stratton told the meeting Wednesday night that Illinois has taken the lead in meeting school problems, and will continue to do so.

Stratton said the "key" to the problem is getting "more and better teachers." To this end, he said, his administration has tripled appropriations for the state-supported teachers colleges.

Delegates elected William J. Goreham to replace William H. Caruthers of Murphysboro as IEA president. Goreham is superintendent of the Jamaica Consolidated High School at Sidell.

Other officers elected for the coming year were: Walter Albertson, principal of Whittier School, Oak Park, as third vice president; and Mrs. Edith Rosenstiel, assistant superintendent of schools in Jo-Davies County, as chairman of the finance committee and member of the board of directors.

Caruthers praised the 1955 Legislature for increasing state aid to 200 million dollars for 1955-57 but he criticized the state tax system as "antiquated." He warned that big increases in state spending would be needed in coming years to meet the needs of education.

Dionne Sisters Refuse to Visit Home New Year's; Plan to 'Live It Up'

MONTREAL (AP)—The surviving Dionne quintuplets served notice today they plan to "live it up" in their newly found independence and won't even go home for New Year's.

The change in the "quints" former sheltered way of life became apparent early today when Yvonne, Cecile, Annette and Marie cleared up a pile of empty soda drink bottles and cigarette stubs in their luxury apartment.

The mess was left over from an almost unprecedented party they threw Wednesday night for their boy friends.

The party made it clear they intend to live their own lives and, unless something unforeseen happens, are not going to bow to the dictates of Papa Olivia Dionne at their home in Callander, Ont.

G. Harold Edwards, a trust company official who has handled the girls' million-dollar investments since they became 21 this year, dropped in on the party—but not as a chaperon.

Father Complains Of Split

Edwards called to be filled in on what the girls want to say about their split with their father, who complained bitterly earlier this week that they were leaving the family fold and treating their parents and sisters with "contempt."

Gay music blared from a radio at the party. The living-room rug was rolled back as the girls, whose quintuplet sister Emilie died last year, danced with their French-speaking boyfriends whom Edwards described as "all nice, decent fellows."

It was a far cry from life at the 18-room mansion that was built with part of a fortune that came

Marion Man Named Finance Chairman Of Egyptian Council Boy Scout Drive

HERRIN, Ill.—An army of over 300 southern Illinois volunteers have enlisted under the banner "For God and My Country" to put over the annual fund drive in the Egyptian Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Heading the campaign, which begins officially with a series of council-wide "kickoff" ceremonies on Jan. 16, is Gus Leu, Marion businessman who is the 1955 finance chairman. Object of the campaign is to collect $94,246.54, the sum budgeted to bankroll scouting in the 15 southernmost counties of southern Illinois until next Dec. 31.

Leu, a 53 year old auto parts wholesaler, came to Marion from St. Louis two years ago, and has been continuously active in scouting. A former scoutmaster himself, he is a firm believer in the "businessman's" responsibility in civic affairs. He chose scouting as a primary area of interest because of the opportunity to work with youth.

Four other area men have been appointed to important positions in the campaign organization, and more key positions are expected to be filled as the drive gains momentum. Ralph Bedwell, director of the Southern Illinois University Small Business Institute, and Mike Berra, of Herrin, have been named sponsoring members co-chairmen in charge of contacting $100 donors.

Don McConiga, Murphysboro, has been appointed district divisional chairman for the entire council. Dan Lurie, of Carbonale's Good Luck Glove company has agreed to assist in a comprehensive solicitation program by the key business and industry committee.

Leu explained that the biggest chunk of this year's "functional budget" will go toward extending the unit strength of scouting in the council "in order to give everybody a chance to be a scout." In addition to setting up more Cub Scout packs, Boy Scout troops and Explorer units, the present organization will be maintained through the same allocation—almost 26 per cent of the whole budget.

The next biggest slice goes into the camping fund. The money covers all the costs of an expanding camp operation. The individual scout pays only the cost of their stay in camp, which makes a summer camping experience available to all scouts, regardless of papa's income.

Emphasizing the need for a successful fund campaign, Leu says that the Egyptian Council has been in existence for only 16 years, while the national Boy Scout organization is 46 years old. In order to "catch up" with nationwide standards, scouting in the Egyptian Council needs a membership boost to about two and one half times its present level. Last year, 3,356 boys were served by the Boy Scouts. Leu estimates that over 5,000 southern Illinois youths are being deprived of the privileges of scouting.

122 Pints of Blood Donated To Bloodmobile

The Saline County Red Cross chapter was out for blood in Harrisburg yesterday when the bloodmobile came to Harrisburg and 122 local citizens joined in the effort by donating 122 pints of the vital fluid.

Announcing results of the bloodmobile visit, Guy Hunter, Blood Program chairman of the chapter, thanked all who participated in the humanitarian project.

"I can think of no greater reward for these generous folks than the thought that their blood may be used to save the life of a friend or neighbor here in Saline county," he said.

At the same time, he thanked those who volunteered to give blood but were unable to do so at this time.

"We greatly appreciate the desire of these people to help. I'd also like to thank the people who worked in recruitment and gave their services in other ways. We were pleased with the many offers received to help in this program."

Mr. Hunter stressed that residents should keep appointments or cancel them prior to the day of the bloodmobile visit as the amount of equipment and the number of trained nurses sent to the community from the center is governed by the number of donors registered. "We had 265 people registered to give blood but only 132 kept their appointments. This increases the cost of the day's operation as the chapter planned to take care of at least 175 donors," Mr. Hunter said.

The bloodmobile will be in Eldorado on Thursday, Jan. 5, and many who could not keep their appointments yesterday for various reasons will have an opportunity to give next Thursday between 12 noon and 6 p. m. at the Methodist Educational building.

Mr. Hunter stated the county still has a chance to meet its quota for the two days if 228 residents will give blood next Thursday, making up the 53 pints it was short in yesterday's operation.

Mr. Hunter in behalf of the Saline County Red Cross chapter expressed appreciation of the work of Mrs. B. E. Montgomery, Recruitment chairman in Harrisburg, and Mrs. Warren Tuttle, chairman of service groups, and their committees. These committees and the volunteer doctors and nurses who gave their time through the busy holiday season are to be commended, he said.

Warn of Area Fire Conditions

SPRINGFIELD, AP — Fire warnings today were posted for the southern third of the state in efforts to avert a "major disaster" in timber and farmlands.

State Forester E. E. Nuttall said forest and grassland fires were starting with alarming frequency. He said "20 or 25" grass and timber fires had to be extinguished in recent days.

"It is pretty easy for fires started by landowners burning debris and brush to take off across the country," he said. "Unseasonably warm weather, high humidity and strong winds have created a dangerous fire situation, he said.

Fire threats are unusual for this time of year, but lack of winter rain and snow has made the fire danger very real, and "unless we get widespread and heavy rains it will be tough and go for the next few weeks," Nuttall said.

Nuttall urged farmers to use "utmost caution" in burning operations. "Better yet," he said, "we wish they wouldn't burn brush at all."

Every available employee of the forestry division has been alerted for duty against the fire threats, Nuttall said.

Khrushchev Hits Interference In East Europe

Christmas Messages By President, Dulles Subject of Attack

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Communist leader Nikita Khrushchev attacked President Eisenhower today for what he called his "crude interference" in the affairs of Communist East Europe.

The rare Soviet attack on an American head of state came shortly after Premier Nikolai Bulganin hinted in a speech before the Supreme Soviet (parliament) that Russia had developed rocket weapons of "inter-continental power."

Then Khrushchev said the power of Russia's recently exploded hydrogen bomb "can be considerably increased" beyond its present equivalent of "many millions of tons of ordinary explosive."

Creators of tension "should remember the result of this test," Khrushchev declared to thunderous applause from the Soviet parliament.

Khrushchev said Christmas messages broadcast to Eastern Europe by President Eisenhower, U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and other Americans were designed to "reestablish capitalism" in those states.

Harsh on Dulles

The Communist Party leader said he did not like to criticize President Eisenhower "whom I respect so much," but he was less soothing to Dulles and singled him out for particularly heavy criticism.

He said the American messages were not "compatible with the Geneva spirit" because they said their authors were praying for the liberation of Eastern European countries and would give them assistance.

"It leads to the incitement of passions," Khrushchev said. "I speak like this unwillingly about President Eisenhower whom I respect so much."

The messages were year-end holiday greetings from Mr. Eisenhower and other U. S. leaders broadcast to Eastern Europe over the Voice of America and Radio Free Europe.

Khrushchev then took up the subject of Dulles.

"Some Western politicians have a strange idea of the Geneva spirit," he said. "They want to disarm us morally and politically. Such conditions are unacceptable to us."

Ridicules Goa Statement

"The most eager proponents of such an unrealistic policy are in the United States, particularly Secretary of State Dulles who plays a leading role in advocating massive retaliation and other absurdities."

Khrushchev disposed of President Eisenhower's "open sky" arms inspection plan with a brief question and answer.

"How does it differ from military aid?"

Set Up Scholarships In Memory of Two Harvard Students

CHICAGO, AP — Two scholarships to Harvard University will be awarded yearly in memory of the two youths who died in the crash of a car driven by Adlai E. Stevenson's youngest son.

The scholarships in memory of William Cowper Boyden III, 19, and William Stanley North III, 19, were announced by the Harvard Club of Chicago Wednesday.

Stevenson, an avowed candidate for the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination, was one of the first contributors to the scholarship fund.

His 19-year-old son, John Fell Stevenson, was injured seriously in the Dec. 21 smashup near Goshen, Ind. Surgery was performed on his shattered kneecap last Monday and he was reported improving today.

Passing with Good Marks

Editorial By Bruce Blossat
President Eisenhower has now had what might fairly be called his semiofficial physical examination in the series determining the degree and completeness of his recovery. The news is good, which must gratify millions of Americans and warm the hearts of key Republicans.

The most important item in the report of Dr. Paul Dudley White, leading heart specialist, is his conclusion that there is no medical evidence whatsoever that the President's heart has suffered from the increasing work load being put upon it.

In fact, Dr. White wants the President to step up the load more and more in the time between now and Feb. 15, when he is slated for his final test. In the doctor's opinion, Mr. Eisenhower's condition warrants this experiment. And only thus will it be possible to make even a rough guess as to how he will bear up under a more normal working performance.

Dr. White has insisted all along that not until about mid-February would it be practical to state with conviction whether or not the President's recovery will be complete. But he has already said some things which suggest that his final report will be optimistic.

For instance, he told newsmen recently that with average luck and "common sense care" the President should be able to live "for many years and be fully active." That does not sound like the comment of a man who expects to find two months hence that Mr. Eisenhower's heart has sustained irreparable damage.

Dr. White added that, having had one heart attack, the President is only a "little" more likely than anyone else to have another. Furthermore, he indicated his disbelief that the strains of the presidency are necessarily related to his initial attack or any future danger.

He said flatly he doesn't think either physical or mental hard work "ever killed a healthy man."

These judgments clearly will have positive force in the political world, heartening the Republicans and giving the Democrats a little pause. Unless Mr. Eisenhower has recently made up his mind to run or not to run, what Dr. White said is also bound to affect the President's own thinking as he settles the question of his political future. If the news Feb. 15 is as good as it is now, it may well be that Mr. Eisenhower will weigh other factors as much as or more than his health prospects when the decisive moment comes.

Feints and Thrusts

Adlai Stevenson's advocates are trying to lure Senator Kefauver in to the March 20 Minnesota primary, and Kefauver's boys are attempting a similar play with Stevenson in the March 13 New Hampshire contest. Neither is likely to succeed as things now stand.

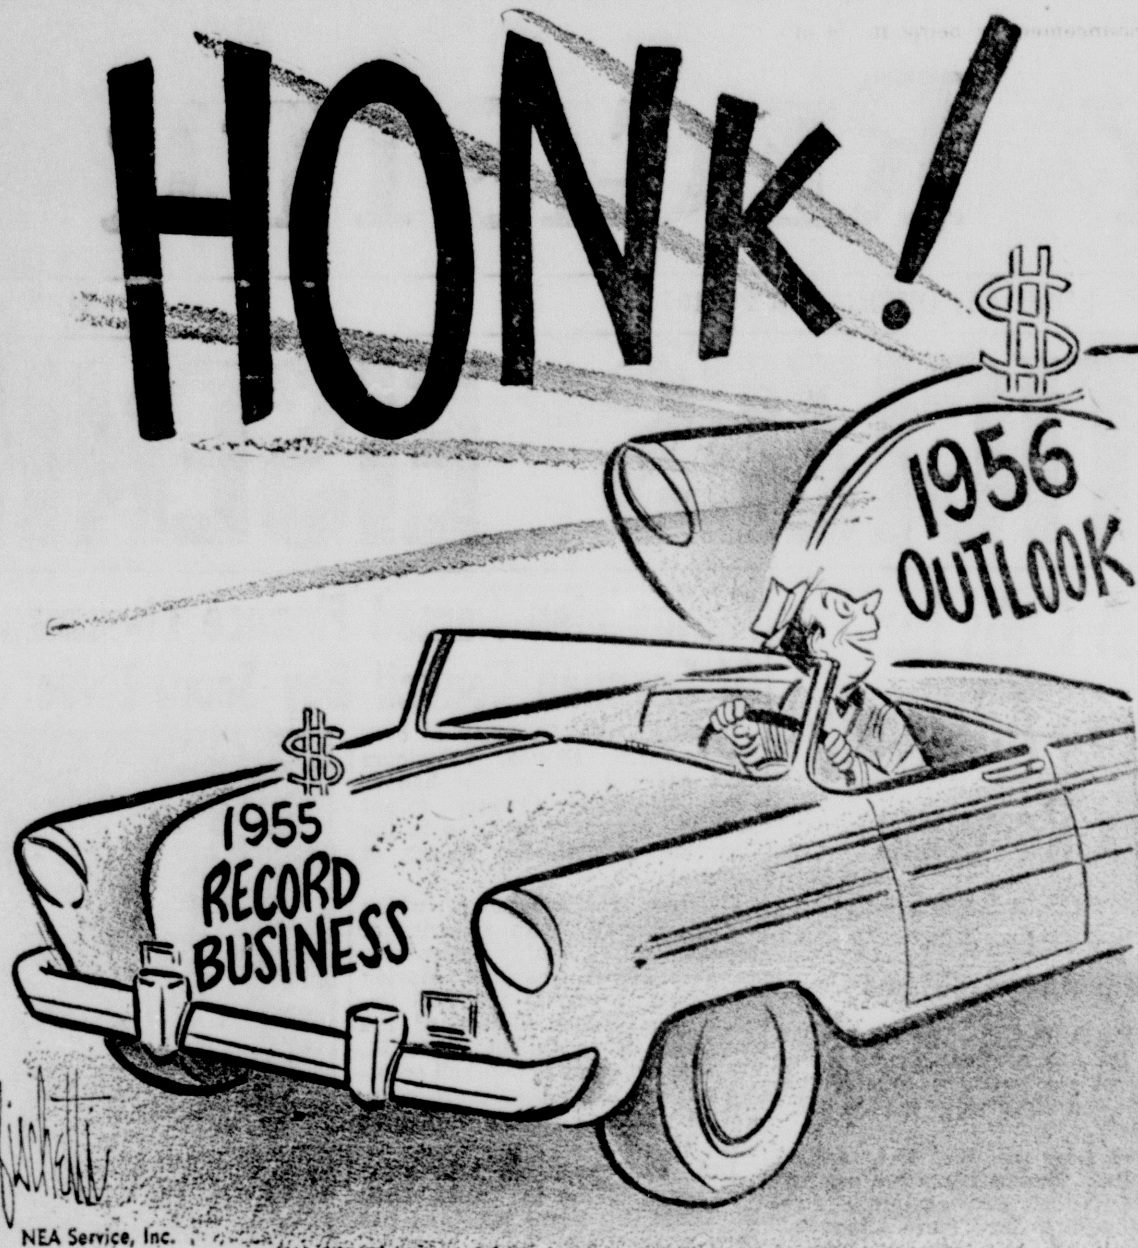

Not unnaturally, politicians have a reluctance to plunge into states where defeat stares them in the face. Since Stevenson looks strong in Minnesota and Kefauver in New Hampshire, each will probably stay out of the other's stronghold and conserve energy and money for the spots where the odds are better.

Right now California and Florida are the two areas where both consider their chances good. A battle in the former is already set, and one almost certainly will shape up in Florida.

But Kefauver, whose only real hope is a string of primary victories, may have to risk more against Stevenson than the latter need risk against the senator. And that may take Kefauver into the lists against Stevenson in places like Illinois and Pennsylvania, where it will be strictly uphill all the way.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON SAYS: Kefauver Wants Special Senate Counsel To Prosecute Dixon-Yates Conflict Of Interest; He Doesn't Trust Brownell To Prosecute Ike Men; Brownell Recently Dismissed Criminal Charges Against His Old Greek Shipping Client.

WASHINGTON. — Senator Kefauver hasn't said much about it publicly, but he has discussed with Senate friends the idea of asking the Senate to appoint special counsel to prosecute those guilty of planting Adolphe Wenzell of the big First Boston Finance Company inside the Budget Bureau for the purpose of hatching the Dixon-Yates deal.

Appointment of special Senate counsel would be an unusual procedure. It would mean going over the head of Attorney General Brownell who is supposed to prosecute for the government, and saying in effect that the Senate had no confidence in Brownell.

However, Senator Kefauver figures Brownell will never move against officials of his own administration, including Eisenhower's Budget Director Rowland Hughes, and Admiral Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission. And there seems to be some reason to back Kefauver up.

First, Brownell is too busy trying to prosecute members of the Truman administration for matters which Brownell knew about three years ago and which need not have waited for action till an election year.

Second, Kefauver points out that Brownell, while sending a staff of 13 prosecutors to St. Louis to "get Truman," has completely neglected the conflicts of interest of ex-Secretary of the Air Force Harold Talbott and Peter Strobel, former Public Buildings Administrator.

If these men were guilty of a conflict of interest — and they certainly resigned in a hurry — then, under Title 18, Section 434 U. S. Code, they were punishable by a fine of $2,000 of two years in jail or both.

PRECEDENTS FOR PROSECUTORS

Kefauver has been looking up certain precedents for the appointment of special counsel to go over the head of the Justice Department. One is the appointment of Louis D. Brandeis as special people's counsel in probing wages and hours and the Ballinger-Pinchot case. Brandeis did such a notable job for the public that he was later appointed to the Supreme Court.

Another possible precedent was the appointment of Owen J. Roberts and ex-Sen. Atlee Pomerene of Ohio to prosecute Albert Fall, Harding's secretary of the interior, and Attorney General Harry Daugherty in the Teapot Dome scandal. The country had lost confidence in the Justice Department, so Calvin Coolidge appointed these two to go over the head of the Justice Department as special prosecutors. Like Brandeis, Roberts did such a good job that he too was appointed to the Supreme Court.

In the recent Dixon-Yates case, Kefauver plans to point to various Brownell failures, the latest being his dismissal of charges against the Greek shipping magnate A. S. Onassis, who happened to have been a client of Brownell's when the attorney general was practicing law in New York.

The case against Onassis involved a buying American ships, then transferring them to foreign flags. The case was largely developed by the Justice Department under Truman, though the final indictment was brought under Brownell. Brownell's subordinates did not now at the time, however, that their chief, the attorney general and his law firm, Lord, Day, and Lord, had represented both Onas-sis personally and his company, U. S. Petroleum Carriers, suddenly found that they had indicted the client who had been advised by Brownell and his law firm that it was quite legal for him to transfer American ships to foreign flags.

Naturally, all this would have been highly embarrassing if the Onassis case had ever come to trial. It would have shown that Brownell as attorney general was prosecuting a man for doing something which Brownell as a private lawyer had advised him to do.

So just before Christmas the criminal case against Onassis was quietly dropped.

These are some of the reasons Senator Kefauver wants to appoint special Senate prosecutors to examine the whole Dixon-Yates deal and other conflicts of interest such as Harold Talbott and Peter Strobel.

Safety Council Appeals For Emergency Action by States on Traffic Deaths

CHICAGO (U.P.) — State officials answered an unprecedented appeal for a drastic traffic crackdown today with plans for a nationwide program to save lives over the New Year's holiday.

The appeal came from the National Safety Council, which was shaken by the all-time record of 621 traffic deaths over Christmas and its own prediction that a new record will be set during the New Year's holiday.

The council followed up its forecast of 420 New Year's deaths with telegrams to the governors of all 48 states.

"This nation cannot afford to experience or tolerate another toll comparable to the one over the last weekend," Council President Ned H. Dearborn's telegram said. "We feel the toll of more than 600 deaths from highway accidents constitutes a national emergency that must be met just as floods, fires, and other major disasters are met—by emergency action."

It was the first time that the safety council has made a direct appeal for emergency action by the states. Plans for such action were already under way in many state capitols.

In Texas, the director of the Public Safety Department told highway patrolmen to "throw away your warning ticket books" and "make an arrest in every moving traffic violation which comes to your attention."

Plans to call out the National Guard were being considered in Illinois and Wisconsin Gov. Walter Kohler asked military police from the National Guard to volunteer for holiday duty.

At Denver, Colo., the City Safety Council launched plans to serve free coffee in a hotel lobby between 10 p. m. Saturday and 2:30 a. m. Sunday—the height of the merry-making period. The coffee will be served up by attractive hostesses wearing the slogan "Make the last one for the road coffee."

Will Watch Drunken Drivers
Plans to keep drunken drivers off the road were also pressed in Chicago, which contributed more traffic deaths than any other city over the Christmas holidays.

About 30 traffic and safety officials met in an emergency session with Mayor Richard J. Daley and came up with plans to put every available policeman and police vehicle on the streets this weekend.

The New Year's holiday at which all these plans are directed starts at 4 p. m. Friday and lasts until midnight Monday.

Senator George Says Congress Must Make 'Reappraisal' of Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga.) said today he thinks Congress must make a "serious reappraisal" of the foreign aid program next year. George is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which handles foreign aid legislation and would handle any such reappraisal insofar as the Senate is concerned. Returning to Washington for the 1956 session of Congress, George told reporters that "sentiment has been growing in Congress that economic aid should be trimmed 'way down'."

The administration recently announced that foreign aid spending for the fiscal year beginning next July 1 will increase by about 200 million dollars above the $4,200,000,000 estimated for the current year. It also announced that Congress will be asked to appropriate $4,900,000,000 in new foreign aid funds, most of which will be spent in future years. That compares with only $2,700,000,000 voted by Congress this year. George's first reaction last week to the proposed large increase in appropriations was that he was convinced that Congress would not agree. He has since received telephoned explanations of the administration program from Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Budget Director Rowland H. Hughes.

"I'm inclined to think that there will have to be a very serious reappraisal of the whole thing," George told reporters today.

He said he did not want to amplify his statement until the administration has explained its program to Congress.

GOP, Democrat Leaders Disagree On Cut in Taxes

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Republican and Democratic leaders of the Senate disagree on whether taxes should be cut next year.

Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said he would urge tax revisions to benefit people in lower-income brackets. GOP Leader William F. Knowland of California said a cut in the national debt should have priority over tax reductions.

The two men also split on the farm issue. Johnson predicted Congress will restore fixed 90 percent price supports on basic crops. But Knowland said any new farm legislation will be built around the administration's flexible support program, plus a soil bank provision and funds for agricultural research.

"There will be no 90 percent parity supports," the GOP leader said.

Knowland and Johnson did not elaborate on their tax statements in an interview published Wednesday in Newsweek magazine. But Knowland predicted "considerable sentiment" for his stand.

Sen. John Marshall Butler (R-Mo.) said in a separate interview, however, that he believes a tax cut will be the only important new legislation passed at the new session of Congress.

Butler said he believes Congress will vote a straight 10 percent tax cut in April or May. But he said there is considerable sentiment for a proposal to increase tax exemptions from $600 to $700. In either case, he said, the tax cut will amount to about $3,500,000,000.

Several top congressional leaders recently have come out against tax cuts now or at least have hoisted go-slow warnings in view of administration plans to sharply increase military and foreign aid spending next year.

Three Oil Firms To Appeal Ruling on Ohio River Leases

OWENSBORO, Ky., Dec. 29.—Three oil companies, whose leases on oil producing tracts under the bed of the Ohio river in western Kentucky were invalidated by a recent Federal Court ruling, plan to appeal the decision to the United States Court of Appeals, Cincinnati, Ohio, their attorneys revealed today.

They said the appeals probably would be filed this week.

Federal Judge Henry L. Brooks issued an interim ruling at Louisville, Ky., Dec. 16 which gave the Commonwealth of Kentucky sole authority to lease oil rights to land under the northern half of the river between Kentucky and Indiana.

His decision invalidated oil leases granted by the fiscal court of Henderson County, Ky., to the Carter Oil Co., Salem, Ill., and the Belmont Oil Co., and by Crittenden County to the Shell Oil Co., Tulsa, Okla.

Filing an appeal with the Carter and Belmont firms will be a group of Evansville, Ind., residents, headed by attorney Henry J. Walker Sr. Walker and his group claim title to certain underriver lands under state patents.

Southern Group Form Organization For Segregation

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 29.—Segregation leaders from 12 southern states banded together today into a single organization formed to make an all-out fight against the mixing of whites and Negroes.

The pro-white leaders met behind closed doors Wednesday and held an "organizational meeting" of the Federation of Constitutional Government designed "to coordinate the efforts" of statewide segregation groups.

Georgia Atty. Gen. Eugene Cox, an avowed segregationist, who said he was here "just as an observer," told reporters after the meeting that another session was scheduled for today.

Seal Funds Help Research Fight Against TB

Scientific detectives are at work in several university laboratories in Illinois searching for an answer to a long-standing mystery—how can we eradicate tuberculosis, the country's number one infectious killer?

Their work is being financed by grants from the Illinois Tuberculosis Association Research Fund, a cooperative project receiving the support of the Saline County TB association and other county organizations throughout the state. The local association already has contributed $100 to the fund. Generous contributions to the current Christmas Seal campaign will insure continued support of this much needed project, according to Mrs. Naida Seright Upchurch, Seal Sale chairman of the association. In addition to this research program in Illinois, one per cent of all monies raised in the Christmas Seal Sale throughout the U. S. is spent on medical research.

The problem of tuberculosis is far from being solved, despite decreasing death rates, Mrs. Upchurch said. Grants made from the Illinois fund thus far total $26,506. They are being awarded periodically by a special research committee made up of outstanding physicians and scientists on the faculties of the University of Illinois, University of Chicago, and Northwestern University. This committee functions as a screening group in reviewing and recommending approval of TB research projects proposed by outstanding scientific investigators in Illinois.

Mrs. Upchurch states that those who have not sent in their contributions and wish to do so may mail them to P. S. Gray at the First National Bank, Harrisburg.

Seal purchasers of $5 or more who have not been listed are as follows: $10, Owen and Ilda Hitchcock; $5, James E. Scott, Good Neighbors club of Brushy, James A. Coleman and Elks club.

Eisenhower Criticized

By Soviet Official

tary intelligence?" he asked. "It differs in no way at all."

Turning back to Dulles, the Communist leader ridiculed his statement regarding the Portuguese overseas province of Goa. He said Dulles claimed Goa belonged to Portugal because Portugal had taken it 400 years ago. He recalled that America was once a colony.

"If we were to follow Mr. Dulles' record, the United States would consider herself her majesty's dominion," he said.

The huge audience of 1,400 deputies rocked with laughter. The audience included U. S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen.

And while heaping criticism on the United States he tempered his remarks about Britain which he and Bulganin visit in the spring. He said he meant only English colonizers and not the "English people whom we admire."

He brought more laughter when he ridiculed the British contention Britain lost India "voluntarily" and said, "The people of India would have expelled them anyhow just as the Chinese people expelled Chiang Kai-shek."

Bulganin dropped his hint of intercontinental missiles in saying the Soviet Union wants to outlaw rocket weapons along with atomic arms.

"The Soviet government stood, and still stands, for an end to the arms race and the outlawing of atomic weapons," Bulganin said.

"And this extends also to rocket weapons which have been recently developed into weapons of intercontinental power."

U. S. Officials Doubt Russia Inter-Continental Missile

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defense officials expressed doubt today that Russia has developed an intercontinental missile.

At the same time they cautioned against underestimating Russian capabilities in this fateful field.

Defense officials, who have been taken back by Russian technological advances in the past, were not inclined to push-pool Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin's latest hint that Russia has developed rocket weapons of "intercontinental power."

Development of an ocean spanning missile could tip the balance of world power. There is no known defense against an intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM), which often is called the ultimate weapon of the future.

Bulganin alluded to the intercontinental missile while calling for a ban on rocket and atomic weapons.

Officials were inclined to shrug off Bulganin's call for an arms ban as mere more propaganda.

Nike Missile Likely Will Be Sent to Europe

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Nike anti-aircraft guided missile is the next advanced weapon likely to be sent to Europe to strengthen Western defenses, it was learned today.

The missile itself probably will not be sent overseas for more than a year. But in the meantime, launching sites, including underground storage rooms, will be constructed for the Nike.

The supersonic missile, which already is protecting 13 major cities in the United States, will be assigned to U. S. forces stationed in Europe. Its primary mission will be to guard the string of U. S. bases there, particularly in Germany. But it also probably will be used in helping protect major West European cities.

Present plans do not call for furnishing any West European forces with the Nike, although the Allies will be informed about the capabilities of the weapon. There is a possibility West European nations may even be given sufficient information about the weapon so they can produce it themselves if they want to.

The plan to send Nike missile units to Europe reflects (1) the near completion of the first phase of affording anti-aircraft protection to major U. S. cities, (2) the growing demand of smaller European nations for greater access to advanced weapons developed by the United States and Great Britain, and (3) the determination to equip North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces with the most modern weapons, including nuclear weapons.

The Nike, which has a high kill capability against enemy bombers up to 25 miles away, is the only operational Army missile not yet supplied to U. S. Army forces in Europe. The missile would be of obvious value in providing a last-ditch defense in an area such as Germany where advance warning of an enemy attack would be difficult because of the closeness of Communist air bases.

Herrin, Litchfield Show Power at Centralia; Carmi Winner at Bridgeport

By United Press
Herrin and Litchfield won solid first-round victories over strong clubs at the Centralia holiday tournament Wednesday.
Once-beaten Herrin thumped Canton 61-36. Litchfield, which lost to Quincy by 10 points on Dec. 16, was a 30-point winner over the Blue Devils this time. The Purple Panthers beat Quincy 76-46.
Other winners at Centralia were the host club, 89-66 against Champaign; Belleville 62-59 over Freeport; Salem 90-72 from Sterling; Pinckneyville 49-40 from McLeansboro; Cicero Morton 70-69 against Benton; and Collinsville 58-43 from Marion.
In Egyptian tournament play at Mt. Vernon Carbondale easily defeated Carrier Mills, 80-63, and the host Mt. Vernon Rams won, 73 to 53, from Du Quoin.
Carmi was a surprise winner of the Bridgeport tourney, handing Albion its first loss of the season 66-56. Noble won the consolation by gaining a 71-64 overtime win over Clay City.
The De Kalb Barbs, ungracious hosts, walloped Waterman 88-49 at the De Kalb tourney. Other first-round winners were Rochelle, Aurora West and Oregon.
At Charleston, little Brownstown cut down Mattoon of the Big 12 Conference 76-65. Charleston doubled the score on Casey 74-37.

Treat Celebration Stains on Rugs Quickly

WASHINGTON — If the New Year's confetti and crepe paper get wet, they can cause permanent stains on rugs and carpets. The National Institute of Rug Cleaning warns that if such staining does occur, immediate first aid is necessary.
Mix one teaspoon of neutral, soapless detergent — the type usually called safe for washing of fine fabrics — with ½ pint of lukewarm water. Apply the solution directly to the stain, a few drops at a time, using an eye-dropper if one is handy. Blot — don't rub — the stained area with a clean, white, unstarched cloth or cleansing tissue. Finish by absorbing any remaining moisture with a clean, damp cloth.

Carbondale Beats Carrier Mills, 80-63, in Egyptian Tournament

Rams Trip Du Quoin, 73-53; Semifinal Games Tonight

Carrier Mills last night bowed out of the Egyptian Holiday basketball tournament to Carbondale, which will meet Mt. Vernon, the host team, in the second semifinal game tonight at nine o'clock.
Battling in the first semifinal at 7:30 will be the Tuesday night winners, West Frankfort and Edwardsville. Semifinal winners will meet tomorrow evening for the championship.
Carrier Mills lost to the Terriers of Carbondale, 80 to 63, and Mt. Vernon, in the contest that followed, knocked off Du Quoin, 73-53.
The Wildcats of Carrier Mills were beaten by a balanced, well-manuevering outfit that did a good job of playing the backboards. The Terriers, who also were adept at breaking up Carrier Mills passes, took a comfortable lead in the first quarter and stayed out of reach of Coach Claude Shelton's boys.
Oliver Rollins, the big gun for Carrier Mills, made 33 points to keep his average for the year 'way up there and to make his total in Carrier Mills varsity games 1,926 points for his career to date. At his present rate the big boy should hit 2,000 points in his third or fourth contest from now.

Pettit Scores 33 Points as Hawks Beat Lakers, 111-90

By United Press
Bob Pettit, the St. Louis Hawks' six-foot, nine-inch shotmaker, seemed well on his way today toward breaking Neil Johnston's three-year stranglehold on the National Basketball Association's scoring title.
Following up on his 46-point scoring performance Tuesday night, the former LSU star tallied 33 Thursday night in a 111-90 victory over the Minneapolis Lakers. The two-game total of 79 points gave Pettit a total of 583 points in 23 games this season for a 25.3 average.
Pettit tallied eight field goals and equalled the season's NBA mark for foul shooting by connecting on 17 of 19. Chuck Share tallied 30 more points for the Hawks while Clyde Lovellette scored 26 for Minneapolis.
At Rochester, the New York Knickerbockers scored their third straight victory, beating the Royals, 113-91, as Carl Braun tallied 23 points and Gene Shue added 22. Jack Twyman scored 20 for the Royals.

Podres Named Sportsman of Year

NEW YORK — Johnny Podres, hero of the Brooklyn Dodgers' World Series triumph over the New York Yankees, was named Sportsman of the Year today by Sports Illustrated magazine.

Carbondale played without Lovelace, the boy who beat Harrisburg a little over a week ago. Lovelace, it was reported, is spending a Christmas holiday vacation in Florida with his parents.
Both teams hit well during the contest. Carrier Mills connected with 25 field goals in 56 attempts for a percentage of .446. Carbondale's percentage was even better, the Terriers making 29 out of 60 for .483. In the free throw department Carrier Mills made 13 out of 22 while Carbondale made 22 out of 32. Terrier Russ Martin connected with 11 out of 15.

At the outset of the contest Carrier Mills went ahead 7-4, but when Carbondale took the lead at 8-7 midway in the quarter, the Wildcats never were in front again. Carbondale led 19-11 at the quarter, 37-23 at halftime and 61-48 at the end of the third period.

Badgers Lose Close Tilt to Huskies, 54-53

By United Press
Wisconsin's scrappy cagers lost a hard-fought game by a one-point margin when Washington scored with three seconds left at Seattle Wednesday night.
The Badgers were in front almost all through the game until the host Huskies caught up in the final few seconds to win, 54-53. Washington lacked the brilliant form it displayed in its victory over fifth-ranked Iowa Tuesday and was lucky to win.
Ohio State meanwhile prepared for the start of Big Ten competition next week by defeating DePaul, 83-72, in the only other contest involving a Big Ten representative.
DePaul kept close behind Ohio State throughout the game and at one time tied the score at 31-31. Robin Freeman, the nation's top collegiate scorer, led the Buckeye attack with 27 points to boost his season total to 268 in eight games.
In the Wisconsin game, Bob Litzow turned in the top scoring performance of the game for the Badgers when he netted 22 points.

Rocky Marciano Is Named Fighter of Year

NEW YORK — Rocky Marciano was named "Fighter of the Year" today by the Ring magazine.
It was the third time the unbeaten heavyweight champion from Brockton, Mass., had won the award. He received it last year and in 1952. Carl (Bobo) Olson interrupted in '53.
Only Joe Louis now leads Rocky as a winner of the coveted plaque. Bomber Joe took it four times—in 1936, '38, '39 and '41.
Announcing Marciano's selection in the magazine's year-end review, Editor Nat Fleischer stressed that the champion's two significant title defenses and his exemplary private life had earned the prize.
The "Brockton Blockbuster" brought his professional victory string to 49 straight and his defenses to six by scoring ninth-round knockouts over Don Cockell of England, champion of Europe, and over light heavyweight champion Archie Moore.
Sugar Ray Robinson was ranked second in consideration for fighter of the year because of his "upset of 1955" in recapturing the middleweight crown for the second time, at the age of 35, on a second-round knockout over Bobo Olson at Chicago, Dec. 9.
Welterweight champion Carmen Basilio, received third consideration because of his two great title fights with Tony DeMarco, who was kayoed each time in the 12th round. Their second thriller at Boston, Nov. 30, was designated the "Fight of the Year."
The Ring magazine gave fourth consideration to Archie Moore because of his heavyweight victory over Nino Valdes, his light heavyweight kayo over Bobo Olson, and his thrilling performance against Marciano. The third round of the Moore-Olson fight on June 22 was designated the "Round of the Year" because the impressive kayo ended the suspense of Archie's gamble with his own crown and clinched the golden shot at Marciano.

Administration Spending Plans Likely to Cramp Democratic Campaign Blasts

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — The Eisenhower administration plans to spend many additional millions of the taxpayers' dollars next year in ways very likely to cramp Democratic campaign plans. The sum will be way over one billion dollars.

That may be good politics. It may be good national policy. It may be good for the country. However that may be, the proposal to spend additional money on national defense, and for roads, social welfare and, even, foreign aid, will tend to blunt some Democratic presidential campaign issues.

The billion dollar hike in national defense spending announced by Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson is an example. The Eisenhower administration has been criticized for some of its Defense Department economies. Wilson's added billion will help Republican campaigners to answer such criticism next year.

Perhaps most important, the Air Force cheering section in Congress will find their pet service getting 700 million dollars of the new money. That, alone, should spike some Democratic campaign guns.

More Foreign Aid
Foreign aid spending is something else, again. There is much congressional sentiment to get out of the aid business soon. Instead, Mr. Eisenhower will ask Congress to appropriate $4,900,000,000 this year against the $3,200,000,000 he asked a year ago and the $2,700,000,000 which Congress voted.

Unexpended balances left over from previous appropriations have enabled the spending of about $4,200,000,000 for foreign aid annually in the past few years. The fat carryover has been eaten up by now and the administration will ask for a lot more money this year than last. But spending will be only $4,400,000,000 which is not much more than the old rate.

Eisenhower foreign policy will come under the hammer in next year's presidential campaign. The administration is on the defensive although about all the average person would be able to recall vividly would be the monumental disappointment of the Geneva summit conference.

When Democrats attack foreign policy, the administration can cite increased appropriations to purchase goodwill and improve defense muscle in troubled areas. That worked well for former President Truman in Greece, Turkey and Western Europe. The new money will maintain the steady flow of military aid items and, it is hoped, offset the Communist goodwill trust in the middle and Far East.

More For Medicine
Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Marion B. Folsom has outlined plans for increased appropriations for medical research and for aid to education. Medical research did not get much last year — $97,800,000. Folsom would increase that by about 24 million dollars. That may or may not be enough, but it will provide for more medical research and is a solid fact for Republican campaign orators to boot.

Folsom also wants a considerable increase in federal funds for education.

Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson expects a 400 million dollar hike in farm relief, according to unofficial estimates. That would be for soil bank and incentive programs. There are other unofficial estimates that Benson had better be ready to ante-up about one billion dollars if he wants to calm the corn-hog and farm belt storms.

Highways are going to cost taxpayers a lot of money, but it remains to be seen whether Mr. Eisenhower or the Democrats will father a road-building program.

And so it goes, bigger and better spending. Next year's tax cut is seriously endangered by new spending plans. But it is a presidential year and tax cuts often can be translated into votes.

New Cold Wave Races Across Plains States

By United Press

A new cold wave raced across the northern plains today, threatening near blizzards in Kansas and Nebraska.

The storm blew out of Canada, routed shirt-sleeve weather in Colorado, and caused two deaths on icy highways. Snow overspread the upper Great Lakes region today and temperatures dropped as much as 46 degrees.

Special weather bulletins warned of falling temperatures and drifting and blinding snow creating near blizzard conditions in northern and western Nebraska and northwest and north central Kansas.

The storm should reach its peak in the two states today and tonight, the forecasters said. Motorists elsewhere in the Midwest were warned of treacherously glazed highways.

The new cold blast came just as residents of flood-ravaged northern California tackled a giant cleanup project.

The 10,000 residents of devastated Yuba City were finally allowed to return to their homes and the only remaining flood threat in the state was in the Sacramento-San Joaquin river delta.

But the delta crisis appeared to be passing today and no more serious rains were in sight. As the flood waters fell, the states of California and Oregon counted 66 persons dead.

A rest between wearings adds to the life of foundation garments. A good rule to follow is "one to wear, one to wash, and one to spare."

Forgiveness Goes Out to Girl Stealing Clothes

DAVENPORT, Iowa — A spirit of holiday forgiveness went out today to the 16-year-old girl who hid in a department store over the Christmas holidays and stole a $900 "dream" wardrobe.

She will even be allowed to keep some of the finery she picked out during the three nights and two days she spent roaming the deserted store.

Her father, a 43-year-old baker from nearby Moline, Ill., comforted the tearful girl at the Scott Juvenile Home late Wednesday.

She sobbed, "I didn't think you'd want to see me after what happened."

But the father assured her that he wants her back as soon as possible and that her Christmas presents are waiting for her under the tree.

As an added Christmas gift, the father promised to buy the $25 cashmere sweater and fancy Bermuda shorts which she was wearing when she walked out of the store Tuesday morning.

Store and county officials were equally forgiving. A spokesman for the M. L. Parker Department Store said it would not prosecute, and Mrs. Hazel Lamp, county probation officer, promised she would recommend against commitment to a training school.

If all goes well, the girl, identified only as "Lynn," may be back with her father and aunt after her appearance before Dist. Judge Glenn Kelly Friday.

21-Year-Old Beauty Crowned 1956 Maid of Cotton

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (U.P.)—Patricia Anne Cowden, a green-eyed brunette who serves as a private secretary to a Raleigh, N. C., bank executive, was crowned Wednesday night as the 1956 maid of cotton.

The 21-year-old beauty could only "squeal" and say "I'm thrilled to death" when the judges announced she had beaten out 22 other contestants from 13 cotton-growing states for the title which she "always wanted."

Pat stands 5 feet, 7 1/2 inches and weighs 125 pounds.

Gov't to Sell More Butter

WASHINGTON — The government has thrown another 10 million pounds of its rapidly dwindling supply of surplus butter on the export market.

It is the second 10-million-pound batch of surplus butter offered for commercial export this year. The Agriculture Department said Wednesday competitive bids for the new batch will be accepted immediately.

Butter was one of the administration's biggest farm headaches last year when Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson was buying millions of pounds of a day under the price support program.

But officials said the surpluses have dwindled from a high of 461 million pounds in mid-summer of 1954 to 50,628,000 pounds. The government actually has 211 million pounds on hand, but most of it is committed to various relief and sale programs.

As of Oct. 1, the government also had in storage 362,433,936 pounds of cheese purchased under price supports and 221,199,351 pounds of dried milk.

First free schools for Negroes were founded in Charleston, S. C., as early as 1740.

Bankers Give Horse to Girl Who Bid on Nashua

GREENWICH, Conn. — Twelve-year-old Karen Ann McGuire got her dream horse today as a gift from a group of bankers.

The reddish-blond fifth-grader put her arm around the chestnut gelding's neck and kissed him on the nose under the left eye.

She was smiling, but all she could say was, "Ahhh, gee!"

Sixteen teen-agers and two adults — friends and neighbors of Karen Ann in nearby Valhalla, N. Y. — broke into applause as they sat on a split rail fence at the riding ring of the Round Hill stables.

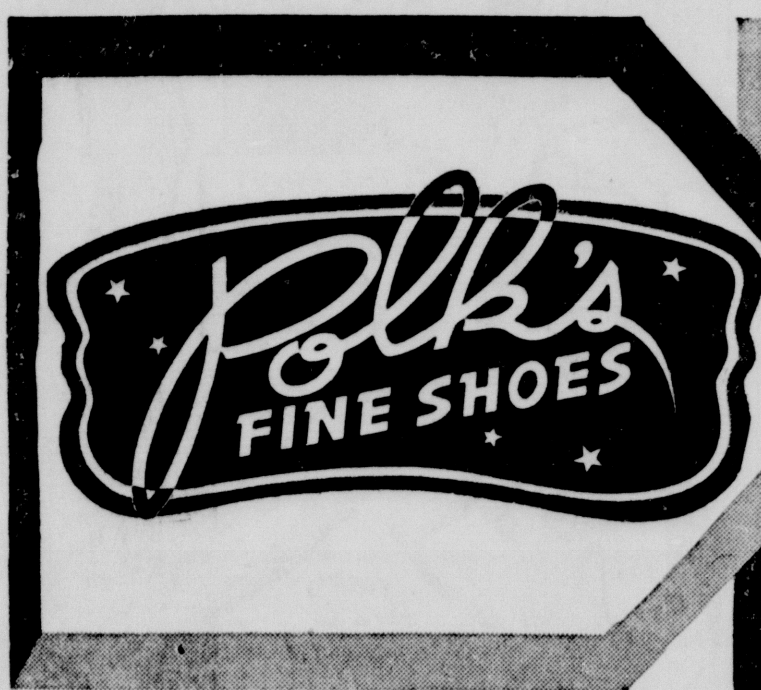

The presentation of the 8-year-old horse, which Karen Ann has named "Hanover's Wishing Star," was made by Donald R. Hassell, an assistant secretary of the Hanover Bank of New York to which the little girl had made a bid of $24.03 for the champion racehorse Nashua.

"Karen, this horse comes to you with the very best wishes of 130 officers of the Hanover bank," Hassell said. "All of us feel he's a mighty lucky horse to have you as his owner."

Karen Ann didn't say anything. She kept smiling. Then she kissed her horse again for the photographers.

The bank officers had chipped in to buy the horse for Karen Ann because they were touched by the letter she wrote bidding for Nashua.

Predictions for 1956

NEW YORK — What does 1956 hold in store for Americans? The United Press asked leaders in a number of fields to try to look into the future and forecast the outstanding developments ahead in the coming year. The U. P. Washington bureau also took a symposium of crystal gazing there.

Here are the predictions:
MEDICINE: Dr. Elmer Hess, president of the American Medical Assn.—Next year may see some very significant progress in the development of a preventive for the common cold. A national survey on mental health will help break bottlenecks in the treatment from mental and emotional disturbances. Research projects will result in additional gains in the fight against cancer.

BUSINESS: Eddie Rickenbacker, president of Eastern Airlines—One of the most dynamic developments in the economy is the move of the airlines into the jet age. Air transportation is only beginning to find its proper niche in the commerce of the country and the world.

SPORTS: Kenneth L. Wilson, president of the U. S. Olympic Committee—The United States will have the strongest team in history at the 1956 Olympic games in Australia and the Americans should come out on top. Most experts say that it will be nip and tuck with the Russians.

FASHIONS: Charles James, one of the country's top designers—The new look of 1956 will look only on women who have not lost their figures. It requires a flat torso and a high bustline, a long rib cage, hips carried forward and chin up. Older women have this look only when lying down. It is the look of a young girl standing erect against a high wind.

TELEVISION: Robert Sarnoff, new president of NBC—The outstanding development for television for 1956 probably will be the snowballing of color TV as a community as well as a national service. This growth of color broadcasting, I believe, will be matched by a swift rise in the production and sale of color receivers, already coming off the assembly line in steadily increasing tempo.

MOVIES: Dore Schary, head of Metro Goldwyn Mayer—I don't predict any radical or brand new mechanical developments in the next year. But I do believe that the quality of motion pictures will improve markedly due to the competition of other entertainment media.

From Washington the predictions represent a synthesis of views of the best-informed people available:

FOREIGN AFFAIRS: No East-West shooting war but the cold war will rock along with the Russians continuing to block unification of Germany. No disarmament agreement likely. Red China will be kept out of the United Nations at least for 1956.

AGRICULTURE: Farm income will decline further. Retail prices will remain about the same. Better farm techniques probably will keep production high despite acreage controls.

ATOMIC ENERGY: Private development of atomic power will get into high gear. New agreements will be made under which the United States will help more foreign countries in nuclear research and establishing atomic power plants. The U. S. nuclear weapons stockpile will be expanded and improved.

POLITICS: A president of the United States will be elected, but no crystal gazers were available to predict who it will be.

Food Supply Big, At Same Prices

NEW YORK — A bountiful food supply costing about the same as in 1955 is forecast for 1956.

The Departments of Agriculture and Commerce estimated the nation's 1956 food bill will run about $71,000,000,000, compared with 1955's $68,000,000,000.

The Grocery Manufacturers of America said the increase in the bill will be caused by the increase in population and in food consumption, not in prices.

"We're not looking for any price change in the New Year," said GMA president Paul Willis.

The agriculture department said meat supplies in '56 should be at least as large as in 1955, but that the population increase may mean less consumption per capita. More pork is expected to offset the smaller supplies of beef and veal.

Milk production in '56 is expected to top by 2,000,000,000 pounds the 1955 record output. Poultry and poultry products should be as plentiful in 1956 as 1955.

The agriculture department said supplies of canned, frozen and dried fruits for the first six months of the new year will be a little larger than last year.

FLOOD VICTIMS RETURN HOME—At Yuba City, Calif., an unidentified family, with their dog, survey the damage to their home and neighborhood after returning with the recession of the flood waters at the devastated city. Floods took 47 lives, wiped out a dozen small towns, and caused an estimated one hundred million dollars damage.

Nickell Warns High Schools Must Make Their English Classes More Effective

SPRINGFIELD — Illinois high schools won't find it easy, but they are going to have to make their English classes more effective, Supt. of Public Instruction Vernon L. Nickell warned today.

Nickell and the other University of Illinois trustees acted last week to drop a non-credit U. of I. course in composition and grammar, "Rhetoric 100," for incoming freshmen.

The course was provided for new students weak in English. It will not be taught after the 1959-1960 school year.

"The high schools have been studying the problem for a long time, and this is no bolt out of the blue for them," Nickell said.

The university has been conferring with secondary school educators, and has found no serious opposition to the plan, he said.

Some Possible Aids

There has been some improvement in high school English work in the last few years, but it's a scattered improvement, he said. The schools with adequate resources and teachers have been doing a better job than others, Nickell said.

The superintendent said each school district would have to face the problem in terms of the local situation, but he outlined some possible approaches:

1. The schools might survey its students' grasp of English work at primary and secondary levels, and determine what phase of English can be mastered at each grade.

2. At the opening of schools each fall, English classes might take a week or two and review all work covered up to their level before beginning new instruction.

Recommendations: "C" Average

3. Emphasize English composition in all school work, and use the weaknesses discovered as a basis for remedial work at the high school level, rather than at college.

4. "It would be hard to handle, but if we can dramatize the situation so each student can see how the work is valuable to him, we may get the pupils more interested in learning," Nickell suggested.

5. Refuse to recommend any student for college work unless he has a "C" average in English. The knowledge that they will be automatically barred from the university if they don't get at least a "C" may provide pupils with some incentive.

High schools, Nickell said, will face rapidly increasing enrollments just as will the university. High school level teaching will have to be made more effective to meet them.

Nearly 10 Million State Parks Visitors in '55

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—More than 9,500,000 persons visited Illinois State Parks and Memorials during 1955, according to unofficial figures released today by the Division of Parks and Memorials of the Department of Conservation.

That figure, which is 250,000 over the total for 1954, includes estimates for the month of December for which no official figures are yet available, and approximately 150,000 persons who visited five department lakes which were officially transferred to the Division of Parks on July 1 of this year.

William Allen of Peoria, superintendent of Parks and Memorials, said that extremely hot weather during July and August, plus the early arrival of winter, undoubtedly kept the total from passing the 10 million mark.

"Our figures do not include thousands of fishermen and picnickers who used the five new parks before their transfer to the Division of Parks," Allen added.

Director of Conservation Glen D. Palmer said that the department is gratified by the interest in parks and memorials and that he believes new developments during the last year and scheduled for early in 1956 will provide outdoor recreational opportunities for thousands more Illinois citizens and visitors from out-of-state.

The magic of Lincoln shows its effect by the presence of three of the Lincoln shrines among the first eight in the ranking of popular parks and memorials.

New Salem led all others in drawing power with a total of 908,460 persons visiting the shrine during the year. Lincoln's Tomb ranked fifth and Lincoln's Home was eighth.

Total official attendance at parks in 1954 was listed as 9,254,581 in the department's annual report a year ago. The unofficial figures for 1955 include 9,396,062, plus 150,000 for the five newly designated lake areas—a grand total of 9,546,062.

Some 4100 communities in the United States are entirely dependent on motor buses for local mass transportation.

First performance of Tchaikovsky's First Piano Concerto took place in Boston on Oct. 25, 1875, with Hans von Bulow at the piano.

BY ROBERT CARSB

THE STORY: With officers and men distrustful of him because two deaths occurred on their first encounter with a whale, Capt. Jered Naish of the whaler Obis must prove he is unafraid. With the same boat crew that failed to carry out orders, Naish proves his worth by killing a whale.

XIV

Darkness was on the sea before the three prizes could be towed alongside the ship. The biggest, Naish's, was taken to the starboard side. The other two, the other two let fall astern on hawsers. Then the cutting stage was run out over Naish's animal and Mr. Wilson and Mr. Finnle started onto it. Naish stopped Mr. Wilson in surprise. "The men are bone-weary, at least my lads. A few hours rest should serve all hands well."

Mr. Wilson shrugged a shoulder toward the rail. "By dawn, the sharks wouldn't leave us 10 gallons of oil out the three fish. Drive your lads, and keep on drivin' them till the work is done."

"Very well," Naish said almost humbly. "The covers had been taken from the tryworks, the fire lit. It blazed higher, higher as the first blubber strips were cut, severed and sent aboard. Iron cressets filled with blubber scraps were lit also and set along the rail for the mates out on the platform and for the men who toiled on deck. Naish had seen such a sight at night as he had swept past at a distance in a merchant ship.

This was barbaric, this went back to the very roots of life. The ship appeared as if caught in a tragic conflagration. The harpooners who worked at the tryworks were splashed with the blood of the prize, and so were the other petty officers and the sailors on deck, the mates on the cutting platform. A chanty had been set up by the men who hauled at the windlass, the words after the first chorus only a gathered grunt. They might be singing ancient Greek.

Alongside hundreds of sharks swam and fought and ate. Bar-rauda attacked them five, six, seven barracuda against a shark. The sea was rife to spume. Cascades sprang where the bodies locked, leaped, and the snapping of teeth could be heard through the windlass clatter.

A cruel and a terrible place, the sea, but man possessed the greatest cruelty of all. Phoebe was to him in the moment nothing but a name. He was savage; he had as much part in this as any of his crew. When he had killed the whale, he had felt a surpassing exultation.
